

Cemeteries

INTRODUCTION

Necessity demanded that early settlers find burial grounds, for the frontier was an area without medical personnel, and this was an era of epidemics without antibiotics and limited medical information.

The earliest recorded burial in the area is that of Elias Eldridge in 1831 at Oakland Cemetery, however many burials in small family, community, or church plots took place in the 1800's.

Unfortunately there are no early documented records of commitment in Oakland Cemetery. Tombstones are the only source of information, and, of course, not all graves are marked by stones. In addition there are area residents thought to be interred in small plots not mentioned here. Only those cemeteries nearest Meredosia are included.

OAKLAND CEMETERY

This silent city of the dead, which now contains approximately 20 acres, was donated and laid out about the year 1830. It is situated south, east and a distance of about one half mile from the city park. When the consecrated spot was laid out it was overgrown with a mass of vines, under brush and small trees, and was surrounded by a rail fence. In this condition it remained for several years, when in the early sixties it was cleared off, some choice trees and shrubbery planted, and the unsightly rail fence gave way to one of plank and in 1894 that on the west side was replaced by a handsome iron fence.

The site selected is one of unsurpassed loveliness, appropriately adapted to the purpose for which it was designed — a sacred place for the reception of the departed. In Oakland cemetery repose noble, brave pioneers who helped to pave the way for the present high state of civilization and the innumerable blessings that we now enjoy. Below is appended a list, as near complete as the writer hereof has been able to obtain, of the early settlers whose remains lie buried within this sacredly beautiful enclosure:

1994 Festival of Trees
 Nerton "Duke" and Fran Pond of Bluffs, IL are serving as Honorary Chairmen of the 1994 Festival of Trees events. AS "goodwill ambassadors", they will be the official greeters of the Classic Dinner and Festival Holiday Dance at the Holiday Inn, Sunday, Dec. 4. This year's Festival of Trees, is to be held at the Masonic Temple and the Children's Hall of Trees at the Strawn Art Gallery, begins Friday evening, December 9, 6-9pm, continues through Saturday, December 10, 9am-9pm and will conclude on Sunday, December 11, noon to 4 pm. All Festival events are sponsored by WOODHAVEN: Hospice and Special Support Services of Morgan and Scott counties. For more information, call 245-0838.

Pandora's Playhouse Presents "Best Christmas Pageant Ever"

Rushville's Phoenix Opera House will be the site of "The Best Christmas Pageant Ever" when Pandora's Playhouse presents the popular Christmas play on Friday and Saturday, December 2 & 3, at 8:00 p.m. Barbara Robinson's story of how a family of ragamuffin children disrupt a conventional Christmas program has become a classic in recent years.

In a new venture for Pandora's Playhouse, the Saturday evening performance will be signed for the hearing impaired. Grade school students from Rushville schools will see two performances on Monday, December 5.

The cast of 42 includes children from 5 through 14 as well as adults. Tickets are available at Moreland and Devitt and Roberts Pharmacies; advance purchases is recommended as seating is limited. The Phoenix auditorium is now fully accessible, with the new elevator in operation.

Like all Pandora's Playhouse productions, this is supported in part by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts.
